Dilemma: Global Dominance

Situation:

Your educational institution uses a graphics software. It's a very popular graphics software and students, staff and researchers worldwide are using it. However, the supplier of the software is raising its prices substantially this year. This is a major drawback.

There is an alternative: an open-source option with no license fees. However, this software is less familiar to students, staff and researchers.

Decision:

Your institution intends to switch to this open-source alternative. Do you agree or disagree?
